

ENGINEERING CAUCUS

MON. 4:15 TRESSIDER DECK

Are you concerned about the sit-in?

Do you share the concern for the discontinuance of war-related research at Stanford?

Are you reluctant to support the April 3rd Movement because of their specific tactics and/or demands?

Do you feel that working within ~~the system is perhaps~~ the system is perhaps the better approach?

If the answer to these questions is yes, then we need you on the engineering caucus. This group will formulate the guidelines regarding engineering research for inclusion in the Review Board's demands. The present members of the caucus hold more moderate views than those of some others in the Movement. Radical views on the nature of research at Stanford are not a prerequisite for working on the ~~caucus~~ caucus; however agreement with the spirit of the Movement is essential. If you would like to work within the spirit of the views which you believe best, the caucus welcomes you. Since the research in question is largely in engineering, the caucus' recommendations will have a profound effect on the outcome of the Movement.
