

What is SRM?

The Stanford Rehabilitation Movement is a coalition of many people, including persons from the dorms, Young Crows, Columbae House, Veneceremos, the Third World Liberation Front, and the Faculty Political Action Group. Everyone is welcome in SRM; you join by starting to work to change this university from an institution which cooperates with killing human beings into a center for fundamental social change aimed at helping create a society without violence. The University claims to not be involved in taking sides in society's arena, to be an oasis of neutrality. If we can make Stanford University live up to that statement, then it will no longer be involved in the destruction of human life.

by

- Placement Center
Defense Collective
- Rich Simons
- Kathy Deriemer (good graphics)